

Season 1 Episode 8

Livin' La Vida Nightmare

Mason was walking down the quiet side-streets of the San Francisco suburb at nighttime. He hears a glass shatter and he turns around to see what it is. It is nothing so he continues to walk. Mason sees Jason sitting down leaning his back on a dark scary looking tree. Jason gets up and he said, "Holy fudge-cakes. This place is different today for an unknown reason." Mason said, "How so?" Jason said, "There's mice in the mail-slot, pigs in space, armadillos that rumble, and that barely scratches the surface." Mason said, "This does not make any sense. Is this some TV show we walked into again?" Jason said, "Maybe it is or it isn't. Who knows?" Mason said, "Let's just walk down the street for no reason at all."

Jason and Mason walk down the street and they see a teacher run up to them. The teacher hands Mason a test and it has a big red F written on it. The teacher said, "I rather disagree with that, F. I only gave it to you because it is the lowest mark the school has." Mason gets scared and he runs away. Jason runs with him. They run into the more populated part of the town and they see a playground that is deserted. They see a ghost fly up to them. The ghost said, "I like a midnight snack or two, whoo." Mason said, "What is wrong with our world?" Jason said, "Beats me. Are there any significant events you have noticed?" Mason said, "This looks like a typical bad dream I would have. I must be living in a nightmare." Jason said, "Well it looks like I am living in a nightmare too."

They continue to walk down the street and they see a short and fat clown with a sad look on his face. The clown is also crying. Mason said, "What is wrong?" The clown said, "Look at me. I am a short and fat clown. This is what I will always be, nothing more." Jason said, "What is this all about? No one is born a clown. I have been a clown once." Mason said, "Was it for babysitting?" Jason said, "Well I got paid to do it so I guess that is that." Jason and Mason continue walking and they see someone with a black garbage bag. This person is throwing printers out of it and he is saying, "Revolt, revolt we must stand for what is right." Mason said, "I am not going to ask."

Jason and Mason see a Sandwich King restaurant and they walk in it. Jason and Mason walk past one of the bathrooms and they see someone walk out of it. The person said, "Gord dang it! There is no toilet paper. Now I have fifty pounds of hair in my underwear." Jason and Mason go to order their food and they are served by Dr. Gruzzard. Dr. Gruzzard said, "What will it be?" Jason said, "I will have a Romper with an extra-large onion ring and a Spirit soda with that." Mason said, "Why do you work at this place?" Dr. Gruzzard said, "It is the only job that I could get after ruling the world." Dr. Gruzzard bends down and he takes a slice of cheese and he takes a hole-puncher and he punches holes in it. He then takes a fly trap and he puts flies on it. He then takes the meat and he wipes his arm pits with it and he pulls out some of his arm pit hair and he puts it on the burger. He then wraps up the burger and gives it to Jason. Jason gets his food and the two of them sit down to eat. Jason starts eating his Romper and he said, "I don't feel so well..." Jason ducks his head under the table and he throws up sparkles and glitter. Mason said, "I think we better get out of here."

Jason and Mason walk back onto the street and Mason said, "I do not know how much more of this I can take. Pinch me right now or try to attack me. I may wake up and end this madness." Jason said, "Okay." Jason takes out a red and purple large mallet and he smashes Mason in the head with it." Mason's head is pushed into his body. Mason grabs his head and he pulls it out. Mason said, "My brain feels like it is broken. We are still not out of this strange place. I guess this is real then. But how?" Jason said, "Maybe those trolls over there can tell us why this is." Jason and Mason see trolls walk by. They see Jason and Mason and they said, "Look, brains, humans, take them to us." Jason and Mason run away as they are being chased by trolls. Jason and Mason keep running at speeds so fast the place around them looks like a blur. One of the trolls touches the backside of Mason's shirt. The troll said, "Ha ha, I touched you. It will only be a matter of time before you feel it in your stall."

Jason and Mason find Keith's place and they run and jump and they smash through a small rectangular window. Mason said, "I don't get it. The window is small. How did we fit through that?" Jason said, "Never question dumb luck." Jason and Mason wander through the mansion. Jason said, "This is the perfect place for a sophisticated man. How does he do it?" Mason said, "This place does not make any sense at all so I would not question it at all." They walk to Keith's library and they see Keith in it holding an old fashion pistol. Keith said, "What are you doing in here? The invasion force will be here soon." Mason said, "What invasion force?" Keith said, "The bureaucrats have sent their trolls after me to rip out my brains because I am too smart for them." Mason said, "And I am not too smart for them?" Keith said, "Look, I win awards and I study hard and all you do is play with that slobbering idiot you call Jason." Jason said, "I am not a slobbering idiot you freak." Keith said, "The Chinese work hard at slobbering in their labor-force." Jason said, "I am not Chinese." The door to the library breaks down and trolls walk in. The trolls said, "There they are. Get them." Keith shoots one of the trolls down and he throws Jason and Mason into the trolls. Keith shoots more of them down and his gun falls apart. Keith said, "Stupid, 19th century armory." One of the trolls extracts a sharp fingernail and cuts Keith down the middle and then in half. Keith slowly falls apart into four pieces and disappears into a flash of light. The trolls pick up Jason and Mason and they take them into the woods.

The trolls tie Jason and Mason to a wooden board and the lead troll with an axe is about to slice Jason and Mason. Just as the troll was about to strike Jason and Mason, they hear a loud mushy plopping sound. The troll said, "I am going to go and change my diaper. When I get back, you will be dead." Mason grabs onto a spear that is conveniently sitting beside the wooden board. He uses it to cut the restraints and Jason and Mason are free. They run away back into the town. Jason and Mason see a skateboard lying on the ground. Jason jumps on it and Mason grabs onto Jason and holds on tight. Jason skates away from the trolls and he skates through the black-deserted town. Jason skates up a ramp and he let go of the skateboard and he twirls and spins around and he grabs back onto it. Someone on the ground sees this and he said, "That dude shreds more than both sides of a burger." Mason said, "Did that guy just say, 'both sides of a burger?'" Jason and Mason land on the ground and dash down the steep hill in the town. Jason jumps off and the skateboard is still heading downwards at an intense speed. Jason and Mason go flying and they hit a solid unknown object in the sky and they fall from a great height and smash on the ground. Jason and Mason do not seem to be injured at all. Mason brushes himself off and he said, "I don't get it. How did we fall from such a great height and not get killed nor wounded?" Jason said, "This place does not make any sense as is so, why not?"

Jason and Mason feel the ground rumbling. They look behind them and they see Keith as a giant. He is running to Jason and Mason and he said, "Come over here Jason and Mason, I want to play! Ha ha ha." Jason and Mason run into a comic bookstore. They see a fat guy with long brown hair sitting behind the main counter. Jason and Mason look around in the store. They see comics, toys, and other stuff comic related. Jason said, "Look, it's Fantastic Fiction 18, the first ever appearance of Banana Man." Mason said, "How much is that worth?" Jason said, "Over a million dollars." Mason said, "Sure, go ahead, buy it if you want." Jason reaches in his pocket and pulls out a one million dollar bill and he hands it over to the clerk. Jason grabs onto the comic. Mason keeps looking around for more clues that could help him with his problem. The clerk said, "If you are not going to buy something then leave now or I will blast your head off." Jason and Mason run outside of the store.

They see giant Keith again and he picks up Mason. He peels the shirt and pants off Mason. Mason said, "Why are you doing this?" Keith said, "You keep embarrassing me in front of other people. It is about time I return the favor." Keith throws Mason to the other end of town. Mason suddenly appears in a classroom. Mason looks around at the desks and in every desk, he sees girls sitting at them. They all stare at him in amazement. Mason said, "What... how did I get here?" The girls start laughing. One of them said, "He is really cute. I would love to give him a hug right now. His attire is perfect too." Mason stands up and he sees he is in his underwear. A girl hugs him and she said, "It's okay. I still think you're pretty cute." Mason runs out of the classroom. He runs for the lobby where he intersects a tough kid that picks him up and carries him to the principal's office. Mason is placed down and he sees the principal. The principal is, Jason. Jason said, "What's this, Mason? Turning down friends of yours. All those people in the class want to be your friend, or maybe even more than that." Mason said, "This is getting too freaky. I cannot take this anymore. I want to get out of this existence." Jason said, "What's that? You want resistance? That is a federal crime in this country." Mason sees a pistol lying in a display case. Mason smashes the display case and picks up the pistol and he shoots himself in the head with it.

The existence around Mason shatters like glass and Mason ends up on a street in some kind of city event. The mayor is making a speech in front of the townspeople. Mason gets up to the mayor and he said, "Mr. Mayor sir. There's a problem and I need your help." The mayor said, "Well look at this everybody. It is the special man for the day. He said there's a problem. There most certainly is. He is not wearing any outer clothes. Now that's a problem. "Jason is in the crowd wearing a trench coat. He shoots pictures of Mason in his underwear in front of everyone. Jason said, "This is priceless. I am going to send this to the president." Mason jumps on top of Jason and he said, "No you won't, Jason." Jason and Mason fight over the camera. The mayor said, "Look at this fight. A guy in his underwear trying to fight a guy in a trench coat. They both seem to want the camera." Mason knocks the camera out of Jason's hand and it smashes on the ground. Mason said, "We have to get out of here, Jason." Jason said, "This place rules. I don't want to leave." Mason grabs onto Jason's arm and he runs away from the crowd.

Mason runs down the street and he sees a white and red checkered head on top of a pendulum that is moving left and right. Mason runs past that and he sees a man wearing a plaid shirt and no head. He just has a burnt black wire where his head would be. Mason runs down another street and he sees a woman with soon to be ex husband. They argue in gibberish at each other, and they pull out short wooden sticks with rainbow bands on them.

They duel each other. They strike blows at each other, and they block every attack. The woman eventually slashes her stick through the man and he turns into an egg. Jason picks up the egg and he listens to it. He hears the man's voice say, "I only wanted you to have the best." Jason plants the egg in a garden that just happens to be sitting in the middle of a city street. Jason listens to the egg some more and he hears it speak of sob stories. The egg said, "I am sorry for what has happened to you. I would like to buy you more stuff you would like." The egg stops talking. Jason said, "He was a good man. He didn't need to die." Mason said, "Where's that comic book you bought earlier?" Jason said, "In my trunk of my roller coaster." Mason said, "I think you are part of my dream too. I need to get out of here." Jason said, "Why don't we go to the shoe store to buy a cheeseburger?" Mason said, "Let's do just that." Mason gets an idea. Mason said, "If I play along with these weird events, maybe the dream will end sooner."

Jason and Mason go to the funeral home where they are having a sale on toilets. Jason and Mason are looking around at them and they find a pink toilet. Mason said, "Do you want to buy it so we can play hop-scotch in the park?" Jason said, "Okay." Mason grabs onto it and he throws it out of the store. Jason and Mason walk out of the store and they see a large black object fly in front of the sun. It then becomes nighttime. Ghosts start to fly around and they see some guy in a black cape say, "Do you want to buy some condominiums?" Mason said, "I will buy one in Smith's alley behind the abandoned airport and next to the Seca alley swamp-mart."

They walk past the train station where a small-sized train drives by. They see a tall, hairy, and green man walk by with a boom-box on his shoulder. He is bobbing his head to some rock song that was being played on the boom-box. Jason and Mason start to see more weird looking creatures roam around the city. Jason and Mason find a scooter sitting on the side of the road. Jason and Mason get on and Jason drives the scooter. They drive down a narrow street that leads out of town. They drive to the middle of nowhere where they got pulled over by the fuzz. Jason stops the scooter and the police ask for his license. Jason hands them a stone that said, "Jason" on it. The police look at it and they said, "It looks fine. I do not like the way you are driving. That is one demerit point on your license." Jason and Mason continued to drive.

They drive through an old run-down mansion and they see the place go black and white. They hear sounds of scary creatures moving by and making noises. Jason and Mason drive out of the place and they end up at the lab. They start doing flips on the ground and they see their world turn red. It then turns white and the only parts that remain black are the outlines of objects and people. Jason and Mason appear on a small blue planet. They look at themselves and they are disgusted by what they see. Their clothes disappeared and they are completely naked. Their hands are just paddles with no fingers. They look down below at themselves and they notice they do not have any private parts nor do they have a butt. Mason said, "We are like, incomplete cartoon characters." Jason said, "We are incomplete cartoon characters." They jump off the planet and they fly to a much larger planet. They see people in black tuxedos with red bowties. Jason uses his paddles and he slaps them. One of them said, "You Chinese idiot." Jason said, "I am not Chinese." Jason beat up the tuxedo guy with his paddles even more.

Jason and Mason appear in a bare area of a forest in front of many small campfires. Mason goes into a dark abyss where he sees the faces of various people that he may have seen in his time. Mason sees Jason dressed as a chicken and he is flapping his wings around. He said, "Hi, Macy Wacy. Do you want your bottle?" Mason turns around and he sees a house on fire and himself pulling the fire alarm. He then sees himself running away from the fire department because he is scared they will charge him with setting off a false alarm.

Mason sees himself lying down on a lab bench and his head is connected to a machine with a screen on it. A doctor takes the connectors off of Mason's head. Mason said, "What are you and what has happened?" Jason is also in this lab room. Jason said, "I never would have guessed your dreams were that entertaining. It is free entertainment. I just need to buy this machine and I can watch your dreams at night. I loved the part where you were in the classroom with all of those girls in your underwear. I didn't like the part where I threw up sparkles at the Sandwich King." The doctor said, "Mason, you have agreed to be a test subject for an experiment. We connect people's minds to this machine and it displays their dreams on a screen. We gave you some sleeping pills that put you to sleep and you dreamed of many things and they were displayed on this screen. Jason and myself watched everything you just experienced." Mason said, "I knew this had to be a dream of some sort. I just could not wake up." The doctor said, "That is because the sleeping pills are military grade and they had such an impact that placed you into a deep sleep that you could not easily wake up from the sleep." Mason said, "Do I get anything for this?" The doctor said, "You get thirty dollars for being in this experiment." Mason said, "Why did all of those things appear in my dreams?" The doctor said, "Dreams are created by your memories that settle in your mind. You saw all those things because they were in your memory." Jason said, "You see me pretty much every day so that is why I was in most of this dream. We ran into Keith on many occasions which is more the reason for him to be in this dream."

Jason and Mason go home and Mason said, "I am afraid of going to bed tonight." Jason said, "It's okay. I like your dreams. I know some of those girls that were in your dream. I will show them some of the footage that was recorded. I am sure they are going to love it." Mason said, "You are quite the comedian, Jason." Jason said, "Well I... I... well... I can't think of a good joke now to counter what you have just said."